

INTERNATIONAL SPACE UNIVERSITY SPACE ODYSSEY INSTITUTE

This 12-day short course is designed to meet the needs of experienced professionals from mid-level to senior leadership positions in the international aerospace community. The multidisciplinary course is balanced between classroom lectures, insightful workshops and pertinent professional visits. The course is offered once per year at various locations around the world.

Who Should Attend

This course is open to those from middle management to senior executive positions, who have advanced university degrees, or a minimum of five years experience in aerospace or related areas. ISU alumni from both the Summer Session Program (SSP) and Master Programs as well as all graduates with equivalent diplomas from ISU's affiliated campuses. Through their diversity, participants will enrich the ample opportunity for discussion and interaction with experts and decision-makers of the program.

Program Highlights

- Participants will present the long-term vision for space development and exploration from space-faring nations from around the world to executives and managers.
- Participants will meet and interact with SSP students from around the world and benefit from contact with the large number of international aerospace experts gathered for that program.

Offerings: One 12-day session, annually
2008 session was held at the University of Naples in Naples, Italy

Contact: ISU Admissions Office Telephone: +33 (0)3 88 65 54 30
Parc d'Innovation
1 rue Jean-Dominique Cassini
67400 Illkirch-Graffenstaden
France
Fax: +33 (0)3 88 65 54 47
E-mail: soi_info@isunet.edu
Web site: www.isunet.edu, then select Space Odyssey Institute

Program Dates: July 2009, exact dates TBD

Cost: 5,500 euros (approx. $7,500) course fees, all courses material, breakfasts, lunches, lodging, receptions and professional visits. A 1000 Euro deposit (approx. $1,500) is required when registering for the course.

Application Deadline: March 2009